

Instructions for Authors

Scope

Vetus Testamentum (VT) is a leading journal covering all aspects of Old Testament study. It includes articles on history, literature, religion and theology, text, versions, language, and the bearing on the Old Testament of archaeology and the study of the Ancient Near East.

Ethical and Legal Conditions

Please note that submission of an article for publication in any of BRILL's journals implies that you have read and agreed to Brill's Ethical and Legal Conditions. The Ethical and Legal Conditions can be found here: <http://www.brill.com/downloads/conditions.pdf>.

Online Submission

Authors should submit their manuscript online via the Editorial Manager (EM) online submission system at: editorialmanager.com/vt. First-time users of EM need to register first. Go to the website and click on the "Register Now" link in the login menu. Enter the information requested.

When you register, select e-mail as your preferred method of contact. Upon successful registration, you will receive an e-mail message containing your Username and Password. If you should forget your Username and Password, click on the "Send Username/Password" link in the login section, and enter your first name, last name and email address exactly as you had entered it when you registered. Your access codes will then be e-mailed to you.

Prior to submission, authors are encouraged to read the 'Instructions for Authors'. When submitting via the website, you will be guided stepwise through the creation and uploading of the various files.

A revised document is uploaded the same way as the initial submission. The system automatically generates an electronic (PDF) proof, which is then used for reviewing purposes. All correspondence, including the editor's request for revision and final decision, is sent by e-mail.

Books for review should be sent to:

Submission Requirements

Language

Contributions submitted may be written in English, French, or German. Spelling in the language used should be consistent throughout.

Non-Roman Script and Transliteration

The use of Hebrew script is acceptable where it is desirable for the argument. Otherwise, the letters of the Hebrew alphabet are transliterated as follows: b g d h w z ḥ ṭ y k l m n p ṣ q r ś š t; if it is uncertain whether ś or š is intended (e.g. in an inscription), š is used. The Editorial Board are willing to accept more than one system of transliterating the vowels, but they reserve the right to modify what is submitted. Dagesh forte is represented (only in vocalized Hebrew) by doubling the relevant consonant. No distinction is made in transliteration between the two pronunciations of any of the letters b g d k p t. When waw and yodh are used as vowel letters, they are not represented as consonants in transliterations of vocalized Hebrew (e.g. byt unvocalized, but bēt, bêt, etc. vocalized).

For more information on the various fonts and formats to be used, please go to Brill's website at: brill.com/resources/authors/publishing-journals-brill/preparing-your-journal-article-manuscript, and from there to Special Scripts & Transliteration (brill.com/sites/default/files/author-resources_special_scripts_and_transliteration_documents_overview.pdf) and to Fonts & Unicode (brill.com/sites/default/files/special_scripts_list_characters_latin_and_ipa.pdf).

Manuscript Length

In order to reduce delays in publication, contributors are asked to write as concisely as possible. Priority will be given to Short Notes and to articles of less than 5000 words, and only a small number of number of longer articles will be published each year. Contributors are also asked to keep footnotes as brief as possible and to exclude any that are unnecessary.

Manuscript Structure

Contributions should be typed with double spacing, and a margin of not less than 3 cm should be left between the beginning of each line and the left side of the page.

The same font and point size (no smaller than 12 point) should be used throughout the manuscript, with no special fonts (bold, italics, etc.) except approved foreign language scripts.

Italics should only be indicated by single underlining if no italics function is available.

Abstract and Keywords

Contributions in all languages should include an abstract and keywords in English. An abstract should not be longer than 150 words in the case of an article, or 30 words in the case of a Short Note. Keywords should consist of 2-6 words or short phrases.

Headings

All headings should be flush left.

First Level Heading

Second Level Heading

Third Level Heading

Footnotes

Footnotes should be typed double spaced, at the foot of the page to which they refer. Footnotes should be numbered consecutively throughout the entire article.

References

Titles of books and journals (indicated, where appropriate, by the usual initials) should be in italics. Add DOI whenever available. The form of references may be illustrated as follows:

J. S. Pelimuep, "Verse Divisions in the Hebrew Bible", VT 50 (2000), pp. 379-393. DOI: 10.1163/15685330-12301230.

J. A. Emerton (ed.), Studies in the Pentateuch (VTSup 41; Leiden, 1990).

If there is a 'Works Cited' list at the end of the article, the references in the article itself should be brief:

Instructions for Authors

e.g., Emerton, p. 25, or, if more than one publication by the same author is used, the year of publication should be added: Emerton, 1995, p. 25.

Reference to Scripture

Scriptural references should be given as: 2 Sam 14:5, 8; Jer 3:6; 16:2.

Publication

Proofs

Upon acceptance, a PDF of the article proofs will be sent to authors by e-mail to check carefully for factual and typographic errors. Authors are responsible for checking these proofs and are strongly urged to make use of the Comment & Markup toolbar to note their corrections directly on the proofs. At this stage in the production process only minor corrections are allowed.

Alterations to the original manuscript at this stage will result in considerable delay in publication and, therefore, are not accepted unless charged to the author. Proof corrections should be returned promptly within two weeks of receipt.

E-Offprints

A PDF file of the article will be supplied free of charge by the publisher to authors for personal use. Brill is a RoMEO green publisher. Authors are allowed to post the pdf post-print version of their articles on their own personal websites free of charge. This means they can show the article exactly as it appears in print. The institute employing the author is allowed to post the post-refereed, but pre-print version of articles free of charge on its repository. The post-refereed, pre-print version means the final accepted version of the manuscript before typesetting.

Consent to Publish

Transfer of Copyright

By submitting a manuscript, the author agrees that the copyright for the article is transferred to the publisher if and when the article is accepted for publication. For that purpose the author needs to sign the Consent to Publish which will be sent with the first proofs of the manuscript.

Open Access

Should the author wish to publish the article in Open Access he/she can choose the Brill Open option. This allows for non-exclusive Open Access publication under a Creative Commons license in exchange for an Article Publication Charge (APC), upon signing a special Brill Open Consent to Publish Form. More information on Brill Open, Brill's Open Access Model and the Brill Open Consent to Publish Form can be found on brill.com/brillopen.
